Emergency Planning & Evacuation

FETS
FIRE & EMERGENCY TRAINING SOLUTIONS

Overview

Once you have your risks identified, choose the two or three most significant to look into for this planning, actions, harm minimisation and evacuation training. We base the information on the risks you identified looking and consider their specific risks, planning for them and decision making strategies based on these specific emergencies.

We will work with your systems and processes, to help prepare your workplace and staff and build staff confidence and knowledge so they make astute decisions during an emergency to keep themselves, others and your business safe.

Covers human behaviour, working with emergency services and decision making processes to support the technical planning and knowledge skills.
